

Opportunity

- ▶ If you wish to explore TRIM as an educational opportunity for ministry training, contact your district executive or district ministry commission chair. After receiving the support of the district, a Prospective Student Profile is submitted to the Brethren Academy. Profiles are approved year round for a student to begin TRIM at the next scheduled orientation.
- ▶ Each District appoints a Coordinator who oversees student progress, arranges a Ministry Formation group experience and reports to the District Ministry Commission.
- ▶ Coordination of denominational ministry training programs, including TRIM, happens through the Ministry Advisory Council. Representatives of the districts, the Brethren colleges, Bethany Theological Seminary, and the Church of the Brethren, along with the Director of the Brethren Academy for Ministerial Leadership, meet to design, review and evaluate training for ministry.

Brethren Academy
For Ministerial Leadership

Commitment

TRIM is open to individuals serving in or preparing for ministry who

- ▶ are committed to Christ and to faithful membership in the body of Christ

- ▶ show gifts for ministry that others have also discerned and affirmed

A Road to Ministry

- ▶ recognizing individual gifts
- ▶ encouraging self-motivation and self-discipline toward higher education
- ▶ contributing limited scholarship monies toward a student's educational program
- ▶ creating flexible frameworks for individuals with diverse educational backgrounds and local commitments
- ▶ providing a context for Brethren formation of ministers who come into the church from other church backgrounds

A Partnership ...

- ▶ administered by the Brethren Academy for Ministerial Leadership
- ▶ sponsored by Bethany Theological Seminary, the Church of the Brethren, the 6 Brethren colleges, and the 23 participating districts
- ▶ coordinated with other ministry experiences and education through the Brethren Academy
- ▶ facilitated through the Ministry Advisory Council

History and Purpose

TRIM was launched in 1987 with four districts and is now an option in all districts. Authorized by Annual Conference, TRIM offers a flexible model for training, utilizing local schools and a variety of educational opportunities, including online and onsite courses arranged by the Brethren Academy. It is designed to address the needs of individuals for whom full-time college and seminary training are not feasible. Most of the requirements of the program can be completed from a student's current location.
